

A traditional funeral service is where the body is present at the ceremony, with burial typically following the ceremony.

